

BEAUTY
ENGINEERED FOR EVER™

B_E_E™

LET ME BE YOUR DREAM JOB

Sales and Marketing Manager.

Here at B_E_E™ we make household cleaning products that make life better and save the world. We're a family owned New Zealand company that wears our heart on our sleeve (and on our labels). Now that people everywhere recognise the value of design-led, truly sustainable products, we're selling B_E_E™ in highly aspirational global markets and are expanding rapidly. We need an emerging sales and marketing expert so we can give our customers and consumers all the loving they deserve.

We're after someone who brings both sales and marketing experience, preferably in an FMCG context, and with the guts and gumption to get stuck in right from day one. Working closely alongside our existing team, you'll be responsible for domestic and international channel management, pricing and promotional strategy, new product introductions, as well as running the marketing and sales plan.

You'll need a successful track record in project management, the ability and confidence to communicate and present information, sound analytical skills with a knack for numbers, an acute understanding of the importance of brand, and the flexibility to cross a wide range of channels and workstreams – all done with an opportunity-spotting eye. The person we've got in mind to join our small but dynamic and cross-functional team has bucket loads of determination, great relationship building skills, and a love of our planet. And of course that special someone will know how to have fun.

This is a full time position. We will base the salary package on skills and experience. Send us your CV with a letter telling us why you're the one for us: info@bee.net.nz with sales and marketing manager in the subject heading.